

INVESTIGATION OF KILBURN CERTAIN

Governor Higgins Backs Down on the Pound Statement.

LEGISLATURE IS RIGHT.

Plan Now Is Save Hendricks from Fate That Threatens Superintendent of Banking Department.

(Special to The Evening World.) ALBANY, Jan. 22.—Alarmed by the opposition aroused by Lawyer Pound's statement against the right of the Legislature to investigate State Department, Gov. Higgins issued another statement to-day in which he changed front almost completely. He says he has no desire to protect any public officer or employee from a legislative investigation, nor to interfere in any way with the exercise of legislative discretion. The statement in part follows: "Upon my return to the Executive Chamber, after an absence of nearly a week, I am greatly surprised to learn that Mr. Pound's statement of the law governing legislative investigations has been misconstrued, both as to his opinion on the law and his purpose in making it public. "I know of no department of the State Government which fears an investigation, executive, judicial or legislative. Mr. Pound's statement was prepared for my information as to the law. All lawyers and legislators of experience agree as to the correctness of the rule stated by Mr. Pound, that legislative investigations must be for legislative purposes only. "So Made It Public. "In view of demands for general legislative investigations of an inquisitorial nature, I concluded that the publication of the statement of public information would not be untimely. "There can be no question, and Mr. Pound raised none, as to the power of the Legislature to determine for itself what investigations are properly legislative in their nature. There can be no question, and none is raised, that resolutions for legislative investigations must indicate some legislative purpose. "The Governor had a conference with members of his 'Kitchen Cabinet' this morning and later with Speaker Wade and Majority Leader Moreland. The latter declared after the talk with the Governor that he would oppose any blanket resolution offered in the Assembly for a general investigation of State Departments or resolutions for separate investigations having the same effect as a blanket resolution. "Investigation Is Certain. "The new forces in control of the Assembly are frightened at the revolt Pound statement. It is hinted that leading Republicans who are opposed to the investigation of the Banking Department will open up on the Governor's programme will open up. "Nothing, it is believed, can check the movement for an investigation of Superintendent of Banking Kilburn and of Chief Merrill, of the Corporation Tax Bureau. Formal charges have been made against both these officials. "Kitchen Cabinet" is used. It is said that the Governor now to prevent an inquiry into the acts of Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks.

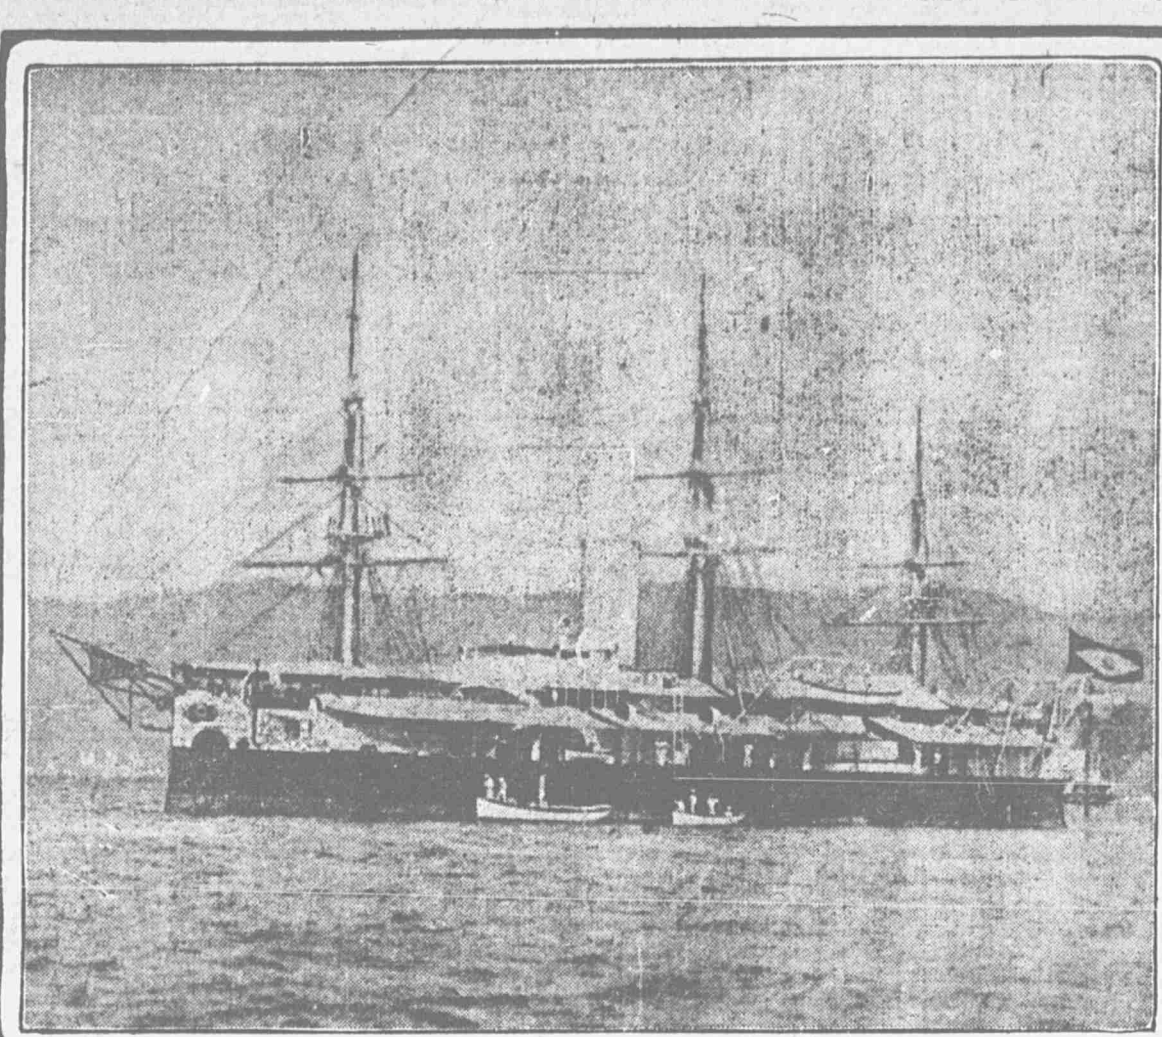

FELL FROM WINDOW, BROTHER LOCKED UP.

Police Investigating His Story of a Somnambulist Tumble in Brooklyn Home.

The Brooklyn police have locked up Alexander Stoeny, who they investigate how his brother Frank happened to fall out of the fourth story window of No. 221 Front street, breaking both his legs. The prisoner says that his brother is a somnambulist, and while sleep-walking early this morning stepped out of the window of their room. Both are young men. The injured brother will recover. He is in the Cumberland Street Hospital.

The only reason for locking up the brother of the injured man was to hold him until some witnesses might be obtained to corroborate his statement.

BRAZILIAN BATTLESHIP SUNK WITH HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE.

WILL RECALL THEIR DAYS AS "REUBS."

New Yorkers Who Escaped from Bradford County, Pa., to Have Annual Dinner.

"When the chores are done" next Thursday evening there will be a gathering at the New York Athletic Club of Pennsylvania hayseeds who have given up the simple life of the hillside farm for the strenuous dollar chase of little old New York.

It will be the third annual dinner of the Bradford County Society, and about two hundred members and their guests will meet to renew acquaintance, talk of old times "at home," eat, drink and be generally merry. Manley M. Gilliam will preside as toastmaster, and there will be at least three kinds of oratory. First will be the home-grown buckwheat orator, who will tell the stories of "Old Bradford" from the days when Sullivan and his army routed up the Susquehanna on the "standing stone" and on to battle at Troy.

Then there will be Manhattan-bred speakers, who will tell how many of the men, once roving the hills "from home to Troy," have done for the city, and how the city has done them. Vice versa. And last will be talkers from "outlying provinces," just to emphasize the advantages of the dourly blessed—those born in "Old Bradford" and living in New York. The invited guests of honor are Galusha A. Grow, C. C. Jadin, George A. Post, C. F. Wright and James H. Codding, who have represented Bradford County in Congress. Several others from the "home county" have also been invited. The society when organized, three years ago, had barely one hundred members. Now the list has more than doubled, and Secretary J. J. Lynch, of No. 15 Nassau street, who is making special effort to find out the New Yorkers who came from Bradford County, hopes to increase the list to 400 this year. "Every township in the county is represented in the membership, which includes men who are getting there in every business, trade and profession. Harry L. Horton, of No. 9 Broadway, is President; Liaison L. Lewis, Norman P. Hicks, Clarence A. Blood and Galen B. Owen, Vice-Presidents, and John F. McCaulley, Treasurer. The Advisory Committee consists of Daniel E. Fomero, Harry P. Davison, William H. Perkins and John J. Gorman, all prominent in the financial district, and the various committee chairmen are: Executive, Dr. Lemuel D. Ayers; entertainment, Henry M. Cleaver; and reception, Horace H. Kinney.

STATION RADIATOR GRAND INCUBATOR

Mystery of Eggs Once, but Chickens Now, Explained in Court.

"The Mystery of the Changeable Evidence, or Eggs Once but Chickens Now" enlivened the Morrisania Court to-day when Magistrate Baker held Eugene Briggs, forty-two years old, in $500 bail for trial on a charge of petty larceny. Detective Griffin, of the Tremont avenue station, who arraigned Briggs, entertained the Magistrate with the remarkable story of the evidence wherein the shells were worked on the cops before the shake down. Griffin said that he encountered Briggs on Third avenue Saturday night carrying two loads, one of them being a large box. He questioned the man, and, getting evasive responses, took Briggs to the station, where he gave his address as No. 109 East One Hundred and Eighth street. The box contained eggs.

The sleuth said that yesterday he learned that a box of eggs had been stolen Saturday night from Stephen Joles, a grocer at Third avenue and One Hundred and Seventy-first street. The sleuth paused, and Magistrate Baker, after waiting, asked: "Well, where's the evidence—the eggs?" Griffin wriggled, blushed and grinned. "Your Honor, there are no more eggs," he said. Then seeing an explanation was due he continued: "Saturday night Capt. Brennan put the case of eggs on the station radiator and yesterday morning we found the station house overrun with little downy chicks. There must have been 200. Sgt. Eagan and Detective-Sergeant Vaughan took some of the orphans to their farms in Westchester, and I took the rest to my home in Bayshore." "But how did they hatch so quickly?" demanded the Magistrate. "I guess we've struck on a new invention in the way of an incubator," said Griffin. He stated that there were ten eggs unatched, which he opened and wished he hadn't. The Magistrate looked hard at the cop, but there was no sign of poached, boiled or omelette eggs and Briggs was held for trial.

COURT REFUSES TUCKER NEW TRIAL

Stick Pin Testimony Not Accepted in Mabel Page Murder Case Appeal.

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Jan. 22.—Charles L. Tucker, under conviction for the murder of Mabel Page at Weston in 1904, was refused a new trial on the ground of newly discovered evidence in a decision filed to-day by Judge Sherman, of the Superior Court. Counsel for the defendant had petitioned for a new trial on the ground that a Canadian stick pin found on Tucker subsequent to the murder, which the Government claimed had belonged to Miss Page, had been shown to have been seen in Tucker's yachting cap several months before the murder. Philip Mansfield, of counsel for Tucker, states that the case probably will be carried to the Supreme Court of the United States. This was the second adverse decision in the Tucker case. Several months ago the Supreme Court of Massachusetts ruled against the defendant in his petition for a new trial on the strength of exceptions taken by counsel during the trial when he was convicted of first degree murder. The second petition, denied to-day, was accompanied by affidavits from various persons who alleged, in substance, that they had seen Tucker wear a pin like that identified as Miss Page's previous to the crime.

Many Like Him. (From the Philadelphia Press.) Towns—McBluff started to tell me to-day how terribly ashamed he was. Browne—Yes, I know him. Whenever he wants to brag about something he's proud of he always begins: "Well, I'm ashamed to say."

No Mystery to Him. Sherlock Holmes's successor in the crime-solving business is "Martin Hewitt, Investigator." His exploits will begin in THE EVENING WORLD of Wednesday. The first story is a crackjack!

FELL FOUR STORIES; GOT A DAY OFF

Surgeon Said O'Toole Was Uninjured and Boss Gave Him a Vacation.

Valentine O'Toole, 'prentice plasterer, of No. 149 Wyckoff street, Brooklyn, fell four stories to a cement paved cellar in the building in course of construction at Nostrand avenue and Eastern Parkway to-day. Then Valentine got a day off. No, he didn't go to the hospital, but the boss contractor thought the boy had earned a vacation. Valentine was sitting on a plank platform over the empty elevator shaft, when the plank tilted and he went twisting and over and to the cellar. The other workmen crowded around him and wanted to give him first aid to the injured. Valentine told them to beat it. Then Dr. Ruddy, of St. John's Hospital, came and, much against Valentine's wishes, punched him all over to find broken bones. "Why," said the M. D., "the boy's all right." "Sure, I'm all right," remarked Valentine; "you ain't got nothin' on me." And so he got a day off.

OCEAN LINERS SPOKEN.

The Hamburg-American liner Molte, from Hamburg, was in communication with the Marconi station at Sable Island when 110 miles southwest of that station, to-day. Time not given. The Holland-American steamer Rotterdam, from Rotterdam, was spoken by wireless at Sable Island when 100 miles southwest of that station at 9 A. M. to-day. The Rotterdam will probably dock at 3:30 Wednesday morning. The Red Star liner Zealand, from Antwerp reported to the Signal station when 100 miles east of the Nantuxet Lightship at 10:20 A. M. to-day. The steamer will probably dock about 9 A. M. to-morrow.

CATARRH THE PLAGUE OF WINTER

Every Catarrh sufferer dreads the return of cold weather, for at the first cold breath of the season this plague of Winter is fanned into life with all its miserable symptoms. The nostrils are stopped up, and a constant dropping of mucus back into the throat keeps up a continual hawking and spitting, the patient has dull headaches, ringing noises in the ears and a half sick, depressed feeling all the time. Every inner lining and tissue of the body becomes inflamed, and secretes an unhealthy matter which is absorbed into the blood and distributed to all parts of the body, and the disease becomes constitutional. The catarrhal poison brings on stomach troubles, affects the Kidneys and Bladder, attacks the soft bones of the throat and head and if not checked leads to Consumption. A disease so deep-seated and dangerous cannot be washed out, neither can it be smoked away. Sprays, washes, inhalations, etc., are useless, because they only reach the membranes and tissues, while the real cause of the disease is in the blood. S. S. S. cures Catarrh because it attacks it through the blood; it goes into the circulation and drives out all unhealthy accumulations and catarrhal matter, and when this is done every part of the system receives a supply of rich, pure blood. Then the inflamed membranes and tissues heal, all discharge ceases, the depressed feeling of the body is relieved, and every symptom passes away. S. S. S. goes to the very root of the trouble, and by purifying and enriching the blood and building up the entire system, cures Catarrh permanently. If you have Catarrh do not waste time with local remedies, but begin S. S. S. and write for our book and any medical advice without charge.

We would have it emphatically understood that the garments involved in this sale are below the standard which we have set, and for that reason have been excluded from forming any part of our regular stocks. Perhaps you would not judge them so harshly.

It is one of the inevitable conditions of a large business to accumulate a certain number of garments that do not come up to the mark. Our way has been, in seasons gone by, to lay such garments aside and dispose of them through some channel other than our salesrooms. This year we depart from our regular custom and offer them to you—frankly stating the reasons for the ridiculously low prices.

Here are some of the reasons: Some of the materials have not been delivered to us from the looms in the exact shades ordered—in instances the finish of the cloth is not perfect. Then again in the tailoring there are slight defects, such as seams being too narrow or too wide, buttonholes too close together and so on—we could recite a hundred trivial reasons—but trivial as they may be they are sufficient to bar the garments from our regular stocks.
